Support is important in a big city

WHAT IS A MENTOR?

A mentor is someone who has achieved or taken a path that you desire for yourself and has made all the mistakes on the road to success, learned from them and is willing to pass on advice to you.

They can help you proactively face problems, avoid mistakes, open doors you never thought of and introduce you to connections.

DO I REALLY NEED ONE?

At one point, the most successful people you know were just starting out and unsure of how to navigate gracefully.

A mentor is possibly the most valuable (and understated) resource professionals & entrepreneurs can benefit from.

ONLINE RESOURCES

LinkedIn Career Advice Section -

LinkedIn's Career Advice is a relatively new feature that helps connect members across the LinkedIn network with one another for lightweight mentorship opportunities. Whether you need advice on your career path, switching to a new industry or best practices for a project you're working on, Career Advice can help you find and connect with the right person who can help.

Shapr - Shapr is a platform similar to Tinder, but focused on connecting you with other professionals to develop relationships whether it be partnerships or a mentor-mentee relationship. With that being said, it's a lot more difficult to build a lasting relationship through the internet - but it can be useful if the other person is interested in meeting for a quick coffee meeting and building a relationship from there.
